PAY AND SERVICE.

The Democratic Senate, in calling for a statement of the money paid to General Scott for public services, will not merely call public attention to the character of those services, but will inevitably provoke a comparison between the pay and services of those who arraign him. The battles of Chipewa and Lundy's Lane were worth a hundred times the amount received by General Scott during forty years of public life. And such will be the verdict of the American people. The British and their allies in this country may, and very probably will, put a very different estimate on his services. They would have appreciated much more highly the ground and lofty tumbling with which General Pierce has adorned our military annals.

But to the sort of service rendered by the Hon. Senators, who think that Gen. Scott has received too much. We find that the following named gentlemen received the same respectfully attached to their names, for one night's quiet rest in Washington—under the pretence, false of course, that they had during the night, travelled home and returned:

Acheson,	$1635
Borland,	1808
Clements,	1040
Dodge, of Iowa,	1449
Dodge, of Wisconsin,	1534
Douglas,	1034
Downs,	2240
Felch,	336
Gwin,	4008
Hanlin,	580
Houston,	2485
Jones, of Iowa,	1000
Norris,	492
Rusk,	2347
Sebastian,	1520
Shields,	1541
Stule,	2074
Walker, of Wisconsin,	1534

These are all famous Democratic economists—highly eminent of extravagance—boisterous advocates for saving the dear people's money! But when they get a chance to slip their own hands into the crib, we see with what results. These are the charges they make for one pretended night's work, between the 31 and 4 of March, 1851. They not only had no right to this money, but they pocketed it in the face of an express law against it. In 1849, they made a similar charge; but Mr. Fillmore then being Vice President, and being no friend to Democratic economy, the account was not rendered, until he was temporarily substituted by Mr. Acheson—when the opportunity was seized, and that gentleman certified the account, by which he put near $1700 in his own pocket. In 1851, Mr. King, the present candidate of the party, being the presiding officer of the Senate, certified the account—although he refused to profit by it himself.

These are the scrupulous and honest gentlemen who are now overhauling Gen. Scott's accounts. They are the great men—the leaders—the shining lights of the Democratic party; and the country may form some idea of the sort of economy they will practice when they come to get control of the public treasury. They do not scruple to put from $1000 to $4000 into their pockets for a single night's sleep. If the leaders, who might be supposed to have some regard for public opinion, are so eager for the spoils, what may we not expect from the "hoggerly rabble," should they become quartered on the treasury? The facts which distinguished the Van Buren era, when "honest Levi" guarded the crib, would be thrown completely into the shade, on the restoration of the spoilers.—Richmond Whig.

Push on the Column!

A friend from one of the Reserve counties, in a private letter, says: "Many of our old Loco-foco friends repudiate Pierce and King, and not a few of them will vote for Scott."

Another letter from the south-east part of the State, says: "Our Whigs here are in fine spirits. There is no division among us. Every day we can hear of Democrats coming out for Scott."

Esq. is for Scott, and taking a good many with him."

STILL MORE—GENERAL CAVING IN.

Since writing the above we have conversed with a respectable intelligent man, heretofore voting the Democratic ticket, who will vote for Scott, and says he knows of at least two hundred men in his county—a county not within fifty miles of either of those mentioned above—who have generally voted the Loco-foco ticket, but who will vote for Scott next fall.

STILL ANOTHER.—A letter received on Tuesday, from still another part of the State, says in a postscript: "Scott and Graham stock looks well here, and is rising. We hope to make a good report this fall. Our friends are at work, and not a few Democrats have consented to go with us."

THE CRY IS, STILL THEY COME!—Another letter from the county mentioned the other day, in which a list of ninety-seven Democrats who are going for Scott, says that the writer has still another list, the number not stated, but it must be a large one, because he says "among them are over fifty Germans."—[Columbus, (Ohio) Journal.]

Some horrible prosaic correspondent of Notes and Queries asks, respecting the beautiful poem on the burial of Sir John Moore, whether it is a matter of fact that they "buried him darkly at the dead of night." "I believe," he adds, "the clergyman who read the services is now living near Hereford, and that he will state that the internment took place in the morning after the battle."

EXPENSES OF THE GOVERNMENT.

The Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill, for the present year, as it is reported to the House, amounts to $5,785,250. This, as compared with previous bills, is moderate, and shows that the Administration of the Government is not falling into the lavish expenditures of many of their predecessors. It will be increased, however, before its passage, by amendments, amounting perhaps to another million—probably not more.

The total Legislative expenses are $909,420—those of the Departments are: State, $72,025; Treasury, $414,000; Interior, $344,506; War, $130,750; Navy, $99,100; Post Office, $114,400. The Miscellaneous are $123,540. Judiciary expenses, $453,100. The Light House Establishment, $544,400. The Coast Survey, $368,000. Salaries of Ministers, and other Diplomatic expenses, $401,400. Surveys of the Public Lands, $432,000. Public Buildings and Repairs at Washington, $262,000.

Postage.

The United States Senate on the 20th amended the postage bill so that newspapers, periodicals and all printed matter, weighing not over three ounces, may go to any part of the Union for one cent, and when paid quarterly in advance one-half cent, newspapers not weighing over an ounce and when circulated in the State where they are published, will be charged less than these rates, books not weighing over 5 pounds may be taken at a cent an ounce for distances under 3,000 miles, and two cents an ounce for greater distances, when prepaid. When such books are not prepaid, they will be charged fifty per cent more. The bill was passed with these provisions.

THE NEWSPAPER.

The Rev. H. W. Beecher thus speaks of the Newspaper, the common people's Encyclopedia: "In no other way can so much, so varied, so useful information be imparted, and under circumstances so favorable for educating the child's mind as through a judicious, well conducted newspaper."

"To live in a village, was once to be shut up and contracted. But now a man may be a hermit, and yet a cosmopolitan. He may live in the forests, walking miles to a post-office, having a mail but once a week, and yet he be found as familiar with the living world as the busiest actor in it. For one news paper is a spy-glass by which he brings near the most distant things; a microscope by which he leisurely examines the most minute; an ear trumpet by which he collects and brings within his hearing all that is said and done all over the earth; a museum full of curiosities, a picture gallery full of living pictures from real life drawn not on canvass, but with printer's ink on paper."

"The effects in naturalizing and enlarging the mind of the young of this weekly commerce with the world, will be apparent to any one who will ponder. Once, a liberal education could only be completed by a foreign travel. The sons only of the wealthy could indulge in this benefit. But now, the poor man's privilege to have the world come to him!—The newspaper is a great collector, a great traveller and a great lecturer. It is the common people's Encyclopedia; the library, the college."

THE PARTICIPATION OF THE CHINESE in the celebration of our National Anniversary, at San Francisco, is described as follows: "The great and principal feature of the procession, was the Celestials, who turned out in astonishing numbers. There were no less than three or four hundred of these singular beings who took an active part in commemorating this glorious day. Their procession was headed by four of their number bearing a large flag made of silk, on which was the figure of a dragon and having eyes made of looking glass. It was one of the richest specimens of art we have seen, and the cost of it alone, was $3000. Another banner in the procession, borne by some of their number, bore the emblematic words of 'A rush for Republicanism,' and 'The 4th of July hereafter and forever a festival day for the Chinese.' A carriage drawn by four grey horses, contained a band of their native musicians, with their unwieldy and strange looking musical instruments, discoursed horrible harmony in an extravagant style. A large number of mandarins in carriages, and on horseback were in attendance, while many followed on foot. The whole was under the command of Norman Assing, Esq., together with Sam Wo and several other of our prominent Chinese citizens."

CARAVAN ON THE MARCH.

A California emigrant, 400 miles out, writes to the New York Tribune, and gives the following description of the great Western caravan now crossing the Plains: "We have now been eighteen days on the plains, amid the greatest show in the world. The train is estimated to be 700 miles long; composed of all kinds of people from all parts of the United States, and some of the rest of mankind, with lots of horses, mules, oxen, cows, steers, and some of the feathered creation, moving along about 15 or 20 miles per day; all sorts of vehicles from a coach to a wheelbarrow; ladies on horse back, dressed out in full blown Bloomers; gents on mules, with their Kosciusko hats and plumes, galloping over the prairies making quite an equestrian troupe, and a show ahead of anything Barnum ever got up. The plains are a pleasant place to travel; excellent roads equal to any of our eastern plank roads in dry weather, and were it not for the sick and dying, that everywhere meet our eyes, and the vast num-

A TIGHT FIX.

The following amusing incident we copy from the New Orleans Picayune. This is a strange world and many strange things happen in it:

"We read a notice in a St. Louis paper in account of the perils and distress of a young man, who went one evening to see his lady love at the witching hour of midnight. The place of meeting was the flat roof of the house next to that where the young lady resided. She and her sister came out, and the three sat down on the roof to chat of subjects appertinent to such rendezvous. After a while the voice of the young lady's father was heard in dangerous proximity to the group, and all three started to rise hastily and abandon the spot. But they couldn't rise! The roof was of asphaltum, and as the day had been uncommonly warm, that pitchy substance was rendered soft enough by the sun's rays to receive and retain any impression that might be made upon it. The young man found, his unintentionally fastened or rather stuck tight to the roof, and the young ladies' dresses were in the same predicament. The matter resulted in the young man being obliged to crawl out of his pantaloons, and jerking the ladies to their feet by force! We merely mention this incident to observe with proper effect, that in such a case many of our young backs would find it difficult to crawl out of certain can't-do-without-ables which shall be nameless, so easily as in the above case. For our part, we do not see how they contrive to get into them; so much tighter generally are those articles than the vestiment which nature usually furnishes to man."

Next morning, on descending to breakfast, they were saluted with the inquiry: "Did you hear the engine last night? What a noise they made!" Turning to her husband with an air of triumph, the lady exclaimed: "There! I told you they were injunct!"

FAT MEN.

We clip from an exchange the following anecdotes of fat men—that sleek, oily class of mortals who are so happy, according to Mr. Giles, because their form approaches to the most perfect of forms, a sphere. The compiler has added the capital story by Horace Smith, (over which many of our readers have doubtless gullied, in their American First Class Book days,) of an ancient Fallstaff, who, returning to a walled city at night, asking a thick-headed clown if he could probably "get in," was answered, as the latter surveyed him with amazement from crown to sole—"Get in! Why, I should think you might—a load of hay went in this afternoon!"

Dr. Beddoes, the English antiquarian, was so enormously corpulent that a lady of Clinton used to call him the "travelling haystack." He was once requested by a hutsman to give it out that he bought his meat of him, as it would redound to the credit of any shop to have the feeding of such a Fallstaff.

At Cambridge resided a huge professor, and the paviours were wont to exclaim: "God bless you, sir! when he chanced to walk over their work."

In the Court of Louis XV. lived two lusty noblemen, who were related to each other. The King said to one of them, when rallying him on his corpulence: "I suppose you take little or no exercise?" "Your majesty will pardon me," replied the bulky duke, "but I generally walk round my cousin two or three times every morning."

Tomatoes for Winter use.

"Take the largest ripe tomatoes, which wash and drain; cut them across, and lay them with the cut side up, in an earthen or wooden vessel; sprinkle well with fine salt, and with alternate layers of tomatoes and salt; fill your vessel, and let it stand all night. In the morning, pour off the juice, with as many seeds as possible, and throw it away. Put them over the fire, boil slowly until reduced to a pulp, which rub through a sieve, to get rid of the skins. Add to this pulp, Cayenne pepper enough to season it highly, and, if necessary, more salt; boil slowly for two hours, or until quite thick; stir well to prevent burning. When cold, put it into shallow, earthen plates to dry in the sun, or a slow oven. When quite dry, put it into glass jars, and if kept in a dry place, where it will be free from mould, it will be as good at the end of the year, as when first made. A piece half an inch thick and three inches square, will season a gallon of soup."

"If wanted for sauce, soak it in warm water, add butter rubbed with crumbs of bread or flour, and stew for a few minutes before serving it."

WASHING COMPOUND.—The receipt for making this compound is often sold for considerable sums of money. Dissolve twenty pounds of hard soap in one gallon of lye over a slow fire, and let it boil, stirring it frequently. Now set it aside to cool, and then add one quart of spirits of turpentine, and one pint of strong spirits of ammonia. When cold, cut it into bars, and wrap closely in paper and put away for use. It is far superior to common bar soap, and will save nearly one-half the labor.

EINE FOR PEACH TREES.—We have the authority, says the Agricultural Plough, of the Hon. John M. Clayton, who is among the most improving farmers of the Union, (Delaware,) that lime is the best manure ever applied to peach trees. He scrapes the dirt off and applies to the roots roots from three to a dozen shovels full of lime fresh from the kiln. Grubs die and peaches live by the operation. Certainly we have never seen more healthy looking trees than those of farmer Clayton.

The Carpet Bag, defining the position of Seebings, its popular candidate for the Presidency, on the liquor law, gives the following as the Ensign's statement on the subject: "I am in favor of the law, but opposed to its being put in force."

We are inclined to believe that a great many people—"of whom better things are expected"—are on Seebings' platform on the liquor question.

ber of graves along the road, the journey would be a pleasant one. As near as I can ascertain by observation, there are about 80 graves to the 100 miles so far; that is, new ones. The old ones are nearly obliterated, and their places no longer known to men. The Indians are numerous, and some of them trouble some, but we have had no battles so far.

A lady from the "Far, Far West," was, with her husband, awakened on the night of their arrival in the city of Penn., by an alarm of fire, and the yells of several companies of firemen, as they dashed along the streets.

"Husband! husband!" she cried, shaking her woe-half into consciousness, "only hear the Inguns! Why this beats all the scalp-dances I ever heard!" "Nonsense growled the gentleman, composing himself to sleep; 'there are no Indians in Philadelphia.'"

"No Indians indeed!" she replied, "as if I didn't know a war-hoop when I heard one!"

Next morning, on descending to breakfast, they were saluted with the inquiry: "Did you hear the engine last night? What a noise they made!"

Turning to her husband with an air of triumph, the lady exclaimed: "There! I told you they were injunct!"

So necessary is it to the mind, that a late philosopher says if you should build schools without play-grounds, nobody would get beyond short division in a life time.

The man who never told an editor how he could better his paper, has gone to Schoenewald to marry a woman that never looked into a looking-glass. Their children will not live.

An Irishman being in church where the collection apparatus resembled election boxes, on its being handed to him, whispered in the carrier's ear that he was not naturalized and could not vote.

Mr. Careful having been told by his physician that he must take gentle exercise, replied, that he had for some time back pruned his trees twice a week.

Nehemiah says he knows only one thing better than love, and that is to be thrown into a pond of mush and milk with the privilege of eating your way ashore.

A spilt driving machine lately fell in this city, and killed a large yellow dog and upset a hawker's apple cart, besides frightening a large number of bystanders. "No blame attached to the driver."

A very mean man is thus described:—He stores every thing about him till there is so thin that they can't speak the truth. They say that he puts magnifying glasses on his pigs to make their food look more. I don't know how true this is, but I do know, and that is, he had an old horse died last week, and the poor thing was so weak that he had to hitch another horse to him to help draw his last breath.

A handsome young girl stepped into a store where a spruce young man who had long been enamoured, but dared not speak, stood behind the counter selling goods. In order to remain as long as possible, she cheapened everything, and at last she said:— "I believe you think I'm cheating you."

"Oh, no," said the youngster, "to me you are always fair."

"Well," whispered the young lady, blushing as she laid a slight emphasis on the word, "I would not stay so long bargaining if you were not so dear."

Moses says he wishes he could hear of some place where people never die; he would go and end his days there. Moses is the same eccentric individual, who attending divine service in a church where the people came very late to meeting, observed that it seemed to be the fashion there, "for nobody to go to meeting till after every body had got there."

A poor emaciated Irishman having called a physician in a forlorn hope, the latter spread a large mustard plaster, and immediately clapped it on the poor fellow's lean breast. Pat, who, with a tearful eye, looked down on it, said, "Duchor it strikes me it's a dale of mustard for so little meat."

Some English people were visiting an elegant private garden at Palermo, Sicily, and among the little ornamental buildings, they came to one upon which was written "Non aperire," that is, "Don't open." This prohibition only served to excite their curiosity, and they very unconvincingly proceeded to discover the hospitable owner's injunction. On opening the door a forcible jet of water was squirted full in their faces. A very just, though not very severe retribution.

For the Kentucky Tribune,
Meeting of the Stockholders, and Organization of the South-Western Railroad Company.

On the 13th day of August, 1852, in pursuance to a call of the President of the Board of Commissioners of the South-western Railroad, a meeting of the stockholders was held in the Court-House at Sparta, for the purpose of organizing the Company and Railroad by the election of a Directors.

On the nomination of General John B. Rodgers, of White county, Hon. A. Cullom, of Overton, was elected President of the meeting, and Joseph Snodgrass, of White, and J. W. McHenry, of Overton, were elected Secretaries.

The President, on taking the chair, made a brief but pointed and forcible speech, in which he urged the great importance of harmony and concert of action to the future success of the enterprise—the initiatory steps to the construction of which the meeting had met to take.

The commissioners of the road submitted, through E. N. Cullom, President of the Board, the following report:

"The Commissioners appointed by the Legislature of the State of Tennessee, to superintend the opening of books for the subscription of stock to the South-western Railroad, report that they have obtained a bona fide subscription of stock to said Railroad to the amount of one hundred and twenty-seven thousand two hundred and fifty dollars ($127,250)."

E. N. CULLOM,
President of Commissioners.

Maj. W. E. Nelson, of White, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of five persons, stockholders, be appointed to report immediately, further business for the consideration and action of this meeting.

The President, in obedience to the above resolution, appointed Wm. E. Nelson and Wm. B. Rogers, of White, E. N. Cullom, of Overton, and T. F. Bates, of Overton.

The committee thereupon offered the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

The committee appointed to consider upon the further business for the action of this meeting of the stockholders of the Southwestern Railroad, respectfully report.

First, That they unanimously agree that in the election for directors to organize the company the county of White shall have eight directors, the county of Jackson one, and the county of Overton shall have six directors. The committee having carefully considered the above distribution of interests in all their bearings, do recommend it for the adoption of the meeting.

Secondly, That we recommend the appointment of three judges, and two clerks to hold the election for directors—the same to be appointed by the Chair.

Thirdly, That a committee of seven be appointed to report nominations for the office of fifteen directors of the company, to-wit: three for the county of White, one for the county of Jackson, and three for the county of Overton.

WM. E. NELSON, Ch'mn.

The President, in pursuance of the above report, appointed Wm. P. Goodbar, Wm. E. Nelson, and John B. Rodgers, of White, Daniel W. Haves, of Jackson, Richard Copeland, Wm. H. Turner, and T. F. Bates, of Overton, a committee to recommend suitable and qualified persons for the office of directors.

The above committee suggested the names of the following gentlemen: E. L. Gardentire, John B. Rodgers, John Hill, J. V. Simpson, Joseph Snodgrass, Wm. Graham, Wm. E. Nelson, and Wm. B. Rogers, of White, Stephen D. Barton, of Jackson, and A. Cullom, A. J. Goodbar, E. N. Cullom, F. H. Dugherly, T. F. Bates, and Wm. H. Turner, of Overton.

The President in further obedience to the report advised, appointed Joseph Hurd and David Snodgrass, of White, and J. E. Manning and M. Y. Brackett, of White, clerks to hold the election for a Directors, who, being duly sworn by W. W. Moore, a Justice of the Peace for White county, proceeded to hold said election.

The following gentlemen, having received a majority of the votes polled, were declared duly and legally elected directors of the Southwestern Railroad Company for the ensuing year: Alvan Cullom, E. N. Cullom, T. F. Bates, W. B. Rogers, John Hill, Joseph Snodgrass, and Wm. E. Nelson, of the county of White.

hereby tender to those gentlemen an expression of the thanks.

Wm. Bouson, Esq., of White, offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Sparta Times, the M'Intosh Enterprise, and the Tribune at Danville, Ky., and such other papers as are friendly to the great enterprise.

On motion, the meeting adjourned; and the officers of the meeting were requested to sign, as usual, the proceedings.

J. W. McHenry, Secretary.
J. S. Snodgrass, Secretary.

Letter from Hon. J. F. Bell.

In the Hopkinsville (Ky.) Rifle of last week, we had the following excellent letter from our fellow-citizen, Hon. J. F. Bell, Whig Elector for the State at large. It breathes the true Whig spirit, though we should not expect any other than such a letter from such a devoted and true Whig as we know Mr. Bell to be. We publish in another part of our paper a list of his appointments for public speaking.

The following letter from one of our able State electors, Hon. J. F. Bell, will convey to our citizens the pleasing intelligence that he designs visiting Hopkinsville some time during the present canvass. We may assure him that whenever he comes our gallant whigs will cheer him onward by an old-fashioned exhibition of whig enthusiasm. His sentiments concerning the nominees will meet with a hearty response, and we hope his announcement of the unanimity manifested by the whigs in his portion of the State will cheer and animate the friends of Scott to still greater exertions in this latitude. With such electors as Bell, Preston, Marshall, Stevenson and others, we can carry the State for the old hero by an overwhelming majority. Let us go to work and do it!

DANVILLE, Aug. 20, 1852.

J. E. CARNES, Esq.:
Dear Sir—Your highly esteemed favor inviting me as an Elector to visit your region of the State was received in due course of mail. At the time of its receipt, and until within a few days, it was very uncertain whether I could possibly act as an Elector, as my engagements were such as to require my way do home, in other than political pursuits; and indeed I was anxious that some other person should have been substituted in my place who could more ably and more exclusively devote himself to the duties usually performed by and rightly required of an Elector for the State at large. But it has been ordered otherwise and I submit. Now, since have assumed the place, I hasten to reply to your very kind and complimentary letter. I hope to visit Hopkinsville, and will do so season appropriate of the time.

The whigs here, like yours, intend to do their duty in the coming contest. They will zealously support our candidates. It is difficult to perceive on what principle or even pretext a whig could refuse his support to Scott and Graham—committed as they fully are to the platform laid down by the party convention at Baltimore. They are gallant and true men of whom we should be justly proud. Gen. Scott has been ever faithful to the fortunes of the whig party; never has he refused his support to whig principles, or whig nominees of the National Convention. Harrison, Clay and Taylor have been successively supported by him.

His claims to support do not, however, rest alone on his devotion to his party. No living man has illustrated a more unflinching patriotism by so many heroic achievements in the battle field; few men have exhibited higher administrative capacity by the performance of delicate and difficult civil services in times of national peril. Take him all and all—his devotion to whig principles—his illustrious services—his world-wide renown; he richly merits the approval of his party and the nation.

Thus far in his history the shadows of defeat have never rested on his standard, nor dimmed his fame. May we not regard the past invincibility of our leader as the presage of approaching success.

The well tried son of the old North State is worthy of association with the hero of Niagara and the victor of Mexico. With these leaders we have no doubters, no laggards, no needless desertion from our ranks. This part of the State will show in November that it will appreciate and properly honor a chief who never fails or falters. With assurances, &c., I am very respectfully,
J. F. BELL.

TWO KENTUCKIANS KILLED.—A California letter gives the following accounts of a tragedy in which two Kentuckians were engaged:

A terrible tragedy was enacted on the Plains near Bear river. It occurred between two brothers-in-law, Beasley and Beal. The parties agreed on a separation, and Beasley got the weaker team and had a sick man in his wagon. Immediately after the division, he hitched up his team and proceeded on his journey, leaving Beal at Green river. In a few hours after, Beal started and in the course of the day overtook Beasley on a hill where he had stopped to rest his mules. The former turned out of the road and passed by—the latter asking him if it were his intention to leave him (Beasley) with the sick man. Upon Beal's answer being given in the affirmative, Beasley stepped to the front of his own wagon, drew out his rifle, and deliberately shot him down, killing him instantly. A large train came up about this time, and stopped and buried the murdered man. Beasley was tried, found guilty, and shot the next morning. Both were from Kentucky.

"Madam," said a boarder to his landlady, at breakfast the other morning,—"your coffee is abominable—it's not settled."

"Indeed!" coldly retorted the lady, "I think you had better settle for the coffee, and then complain."

"We need money! We must have it, and delinquents must pay up!!!"
